We don't mean just stop the irritanon in your throat-but cure the underlying cause. Cough syrups cannot do this. It likes a constitutional tonic body ilder to do the work properly-and cure you to stay cured. If we cannot stop that cough with INOL-our delicious cod liver and iron tonic-which is made without oil-we will not charge you a cent for the medicine you buy. OWENS & MILLER, DRUGGISTS SHEPHERDSTOWN.

LITTLE LOCALS.

The rainy spell that prevailed all last week continued until Sunday and Monday of this week, and the ground got a soaking such as it has not had in a long time. In all, about four inches of rain fell, and pretty nearly all of it sank into the ground to replenish the subterranean reservoirs. Fred Legge, one of our former Shep-herdstown boys who is now a student at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, made a fine record in athletic sports last Saturday at the field-day exercises. He won the all-around championship prize, having carried off first honors in several events. In a game of baseball here last Saturday, Shepherd College was defeated by Berkeley Springs by a score of 8 to 5. Up to the seventh inning our boys had the game all their own way, but then the vistors piled up a number of runs and took the backbone out of the locals, who failed to recover the lost ground.

Rev. and Mrs. James T. Williams have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Alma Lee, to Mr. Melvin Talbott Strider, the wedding to take place in the Methodist Episcopal Church South n Romney, W. Va., on May 24th. Mr. Strider, the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. I. Strider, is a well-known young business man of Charles Town.

Secretary E. T. Licklider informs us that the officers of the Morgan's Grove Fair Association have just paid $300 on office on Tuesday. the debt owed by the association, which brings down the obligation to $200. There is still money in the treasury, and the whole debt could have been paid, but the officers thought they had better keep a fund on hand in case of emergency.

Our friend Wm. H. Martin has bought himself a boat and put it in the river at his place above town. Mr. Martin says that he expects to catch more fish this summer than he can make use of, and he will in the paint line sold at, supply hotels and boarding houses with the surplus - which leads us to remark that he has never matched his wits against the wily bass that inhabit the Potomac.

J. H. LeDane, one of the Register's friends at Ridgeley, W. Va., has the right idea. In sending ubscription he sugoney to buy gasogests that we use line so that we car "ivel around in our automobile and code * from delinquents. All out-of-town subscribers will please follow Mr. LeDane's example, and we'll get a barrel of gasoline for this purpose.

Director James H. Stewart, of the Experiment Station at Morgantown, was mong the visitors to Shepherdstown last Friday. Mr. Stewart, who made a brief address at the Round Table meeting, said that the Jefferson county fruit growers are doing excellent work in spraying, and predicts that our orchards will soon be a most important feature of rural business. H. A. Clipp, who last year farmed the Baker place near Leetown, has moved to Loudoun county, Va., where he will have charge of the fruit farm of Lawrence R. Lee. Mr. Lee has bought several hundred acres of land near Leesburg, where he will establish very large orchards. He has already planted sixty acres in apples, and expects next fall to set out forty acres A. B. Burnett, from west of town, who pleurisy. He was a son of the late Judge

There is every prospect of an unusual ly good crop of fruit in this section, provided there is no unforeseen trouble between now and maturity. Pears, plums, etc., are well formed and are on the safe side of ordinary weather. There is prospharmacists in charge and all pect of a good apple crop in this section, and it is noticeable that many orchards that bore well last year give promise of a good yield again this year, there being an abundance of bloom. News from the peach-growing sections of Hampshire county is to the effect that a very large yield of fruit is expected.

> At a special meeting of the town council on Monday night a recommendation for license to keep a liquor saloon in Shepherdstown was granted to Hamilton & Lane, of Berryville. They will have their saloon in the Chapline building on Main street, where they conducted a bar-room year or two ago. This same tirm made pplication for a license a couple of weeks go, but was turned down at that time. The reason for the change of mind on the part of the councilmen is not given. Two members of the council, Messrs. Billmyer and Weltzheimer, voted against the license Monday night.

> Walton Morrow killed a rare bird on E. T. Licklider's farm near town yesterday morning. It was identified, with the help of Prof. W. M. Duke, of Shepherd College, as the black heron, which spends its summers in Nova Scotia and winters along the gulf of Mexico. This fellow was evidently on his way north when he got bewildered and dropped off here, probably Tuesday night, to meet an untimely fate. It is a very curious looking bird, measuring about forty inches from its toes to the end of its bill, and when first seen on Mr. Licklider's place was walking in a field with its head high in the air. Mr. Morrow will have the bird mounted by Taxidermist Michaels.

The following deeds have been recorded in the office of the Jefferson county clerk: T. J. Hoffman to George Fraley, the Hoffman mill property, including four acres of land, east of Shepherdstown, for $700; J. B. Osbourn, executor of Joseph Engle, to Blanche A. Brantner, 240 acres of land near Shenandoah Junction, $16,-800; S. T. Jones to John H. Napper, lot in Harper's Ferry, $50; Mary A. Wilt to Adeline L. Painter, 27 acres on the eas, side of the Shenandoah river, $400; Wm 5. Zombro and others, heirs of Chas. T. Zombro, to Geo. W. Zombro, one-half interest in house and lot in Middleway, $125; Wesley P. Bell to Joel E. Price, house and lot on the Sandy Ridge road at Shenandoah Junction, $1,850.

The Register will have to stop short off its argument with the Independent over the awful manner in which the elecric light company is robbing the town. That erudite journal knows so much about the subject, and is so skillful in the handling of the technical terms, that the Regster is at a hopeless disadvantage. We confess that we can't tell a kilowatt from a secondary ampere, while as for a poential transformer, why, we wouldn't know one if we were to meet it in the big road. It is bad enough for us to feel our deficiency on this subject, realizing as we do the luminosity of the Independent, but when that inconsiderate journal publicly twits us with ignorance, we feel that it is time for us to run to cover. Besides. we fear that if we make further comment stock Friday, April 29, at 10.30 a. m. and on our neighbor's pet mare's nest the 7.30 p. m., and Saturday at 10.30 a. m. said neighbor will just swell up and bust, and 7.30 p. m. Your price is the price.

Answering the Last Summons

Mrs. Katharine A. Fleming, wife of our venerable fellow-townsman, Joseph S. Fleming, Esq., died at her home in this place Monday afternoon, aged 79 years. Mrs. Fleming had been ill for a long time from the ills incident to her advanced years, and had further been afflicted with blindness for the past four years. Death came to her as a release from much suffering, for her last years had been a time of great bodily affliction. The deceased was a lifelong resident of Shepherdstown, having been born and reared in this place. She was a daughter of the late David Hawn, and her family has been well-known here for several generations. On April 11, 1850, she was married to Joseph S. Fleming, the ceremony being performed at the old home by Rev. John Bowen, of the Methodist Church. For sixty years she and her faithful husband shared together the joys and the sorrows that have fallen to their lot, for in this long life journey there has been shadow as well as sunshine. Ten years ago they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, when many friends joined with them in pleasant festivities appropriate to the estry work for the past couple of years in occasion. Mrs. Fleming was a member of the Methodist Church for sixty-four years, and was a devoted Christian woman. She loved her church, and as long as her health permitted, she was faithful in her service to it. A helpful wife, a loving mother and a good neighbor, she has left behind her the record of a life of gone to enjoy the reward of those who have been faithful until death. Mr. P. Foy, landscape gardener of the Norfolk & Western Railway, was in Shepherdstown Tuesday, having been sent here by the railroad company in response | W. W. Mr. Foy spent the day in looking over the town, and in the meeting. Mr. Foy, in an address to those present, stated that he found conditions as to cleanliness and sanitation in Shepherdstown much better than is usually found in towns of this size, and he be made one of the most attractive in all this section by utilizing our natural advantages and by united effort for improvement. He suggested that as the railroad company had made such a desirable improvement in its new station, it would be wise for the town to give especial attention to the two streets leading to the station-German and High streets - by making the already excellent conditions still better in the way of entirely good paving, guttering and macadamizing. Dwelling-House Burned.

The small dwelling-house on Mrs. Hattie Hill's place, a short distance west of town, along the Martinsburg road, occupied by Charles Willard, was entirely destroyed by fire last Thursday about noon. Mr. and Mrs. Willard were both away from home at the time, and no one was about the house except the children. It is thought that the fire started at a pipe hole, and when the children first saw it the blaze was making good headway. The neighbors came quickly, and managed to get out all of the furniture except the contents of the kitchen. There was no way to stop the progress of the flames, and the building was entirely consumed. Mr. Willard later moved his effects into the dwelling along the Charles Town road next to the home of the Misses Hill. The loss on the house is partly covered by in-

YOU ARE INVITED TO ATTEND Our Spring Clothing Show

Come, you and your friends. We have prepared a very interesting and instructive exhibition of all the new model garments and fashionable fabrics for the season's wear, and one that surpasses any previous showing ever attempted in this city. An entire section of our store is given over to this Spring display. Here you can critically examine at your leisure the new styles as expressed in the fine lines we carry.

Our Special $15 and $18 Suits are the cream of the market. Don't miss this showing. We have them in many shades and all the new Spring designs. We can save you money on any suit you may select.
